Trustees' Association in Favor Salary Reduction

The meeting of the Wetskiwin Inspectorate School Trustees' Association was fairly well attended, and several resolutions on the agenda were thoroughly discussed.

Duncan MacEachern, chairman of the Wetskiwin Public School Board, welcomed the delegates and at the same time, briefly referred to the proposed new government system of larger municipal districts.

V. B. Thompson, president, also referred at some length to the proposed change of our municipal districts into a county system and gave word of warning that no doubt such a proposition would largely increase the cost of government, and the tax rate would be ultimately increased. A resolution from the Larch Tree S.D. asking the Department of Education to change the agreement from having only the month of June to ask for a teacher's resignation, back to the old system where each party could give thirty days notice to the other party at any time, was passed unanimously.

Another resolution from the Larch Tree S.D. to the effect that the clause referring to the minimum salary for teachers of $840 per year be abolished, was also carried. A resolution from the Norbury S.D. to the effect that the government be requested to have all legal cases involving school districts, where legal assistance is needed, handled by the Attorney General's Department, so far as advising and preparing papers are concerned, to be done without charge to the districts, was approved by the meeting. Another resolution from Norbury S.D. was that where the minister approved of any vacation other than the regular vacation, it automatically suspended all teachers' salary payments for that vacation. This was carried. The resolutions will be forwarded to the secretary of the Alberta School Trustees' Association for consideration at the annual convention.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, V. B. Thompson; Vice-President, Duncan MacEachern; Secretary-treasurer, Fred Kaiser, all re-elected by acclamation.

Another meeting of the Association will be held about June 15th next.

SCALING DOWN FARMERS' LIABILITIES WANTED

Calgary, Oct. 1.—The United Farmers of Alberta executive committee, in session here Sunday, urged a provincial and federal government conference to canvas the farm debt situation with a view to scaling down debts of the farmers.

Norman F. Priestly, vice-president, stated that it was desired that farmers' debts be on a basis commensurate with farm earnings under present conditions. The Canadian dollar should be on a par with the British pound sterling, it was claimed.

A petition will be prepared early next week and sent to the Dominion government and to the Alberta government urging conference and embodying the monetary suggestions, it was stated. The petition will also be sent to the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section; the United Farmers of Manitoba and the United Farmers of Ontario.

The decision was reached after discussion, which commenced Saturday morning and continued until Sunday evening. The fact that debts of farmers were incurred when prices of farm commodities were high, will be pointed out in the petition.

"Through no fault of the farmer prices have slumped, but the obligations acquired are still as high as when contracted and are carrying heavy interest charges," said Mr. Priestly.

Under recent conditions a scaling down of debts is imperative if farmers are to continue, the executive deemed. It also declared that interest charges should be lowered and farmers granted exemption from payment of certain debts.

REMEMBRANCE DAY SERVICE

The committee in charge of the Memorial service would appreciate it if all interested in a massed choir will meet in the Elks' hall on Sunday, Nov. 6th, at 8 p.m., for a rehearsal, and bring their hymn books.

Weddings

JOHNSON—CAMPBELL

In the presence of only the immediate family connection there was celebrated the nuptials of Philip J. Johnson and Elsie G. Campbell, on Saturday, October 29th. Both of the participants are now residents of Duhamel, but were born and brought up in Wetskiwin. The ceremony took place in the United Church and was performed by the Rev. A. R. Schrag. The bride entered on the arm of her father, Mr. Neil F. Campbell, and was attended by Gladys Campbell, whilst the groom's man was his brother Emil C. Johnson. After a brief honeymoon the young couple will take up their residence on a farm at Duhamel.

SCHREIFELS—ALM

A quiet ceremony marked the joining together of William B. Schreifels and Elsie V. Alm in holy wedlock. Both the parties are well-known in Duhamel and Wetskiwin, having spent their school days here and always in the district. The wedding took place at the United Church, Wednesday, November 2nd, and the couple had as witnesses Mr. M. J. Schreifels and H. T. Alm. The young couple will take up their residence in Duhamel.

BREDLOW—SCHMULAND

On October 25th, Marie Louise Victoria Schmulland and Paul Gotfried Amundson Bredlow were united in holy matrimony, in the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Church, Rev. H. G. H. Klingberg of St. John's Church, officiating. The ceremony was at 12:12. "Believing in hope, patient in tribulation, continuing instant in prayer." A delicious supper was served at the home of the bride.

The happy couple are temporarily making their home at the home of the groom's father, Rev. F. Bredlow.

CAMROSE RESULT AS ANTICIPATED

C. A. Rinning, provincial government candidate, has been elected member for Camrose on the second count by a majority of 400 over his Liberal opponent.

The result shows that the entrance of a Conservative candidate in the fight assured the election of the government nominee and explains the failure of the Liberals to win the seat. The vote also indicated what was claimed by the Herald some time ago that the Conservative standard bearer never had a chance of carrying the riding and that his presence in the field was a tactical mistake of the first order. The best he could do in first choice votes was but slightly over the thousand mark.

Camrose has given another minority candidate to the government party in the legislature. It has also put a definite check to any movement to force fusion of anti-government forces in this province. For this result, the Conservative leader must be largely responsible. The Conservatives did not place a candidate in the field in the riding in the general election two years ago. On that occasion the present Liberal candidate made a surprisingly strong run against a popular member of the Brownlee cabinet. All signs pointed to Mr. Westvick's election in the by-election in a straight fight. Does this explain the Conservative move?

The result in Camrose is a moral victory for the Liberals. In by-elections any government that is strongly entrenched in office has a marked advantage over the opposition in that a constituency wants to stand in with the administration in lively expectation of possible favors. In this instance, the government held a trump card in the Camrose Normal School which has been kept open after a previous announcement by the premier that it would be closed as an economy measure. To have held their former vote under those conditions and against two opponents was a considerable Liberal achievement.—Calgary Herald.

A. M. Mitchell has been appointed controller of the Alberta telephone system, in charge of the accounting and commercial departments.

J. S. Thomson made a business trip to Calgary the first part of the week.

The W.A. will meet at the home of Mrs. Compton on Tuesday, November 8th.

Miss Austin of Calgary, is visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Stevenson.

Mr. Jacob Wolters, who is in the hospital owing to an operation for ruptured appendix, is slowly improving.

The Lord Bishop of the Edmonton Diocese will visit Wetskiwin on Sunday next, November 6th, and will induct the Rev. A. M. Trendell into the living of Immanuel Church.

The Wetskiwin U.F.A. Constitution Association will hold their annual convention in the U.F.A. hall on Tuesday, November 8th, at 2 p.m. U.F.A. members and visitors are welcome.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of the Elks' Carnival where in this issue. The Carnival takes place the last three evenings of this week, and we understand the proceeds will be expended for charity.

All ex-service men are invited to attend a Memorial Day service at Wetskiwin on Remembrance Day, Nov. 11th, Parade 10:15 a.m. Alexander School grounds. Medals to be worn. Parade to Memorial and placing of wreath after service. Stag banquet at Driard Hotel, 7 p.m.

Acting on a report that a man was found dead about one mile north of Ponoka, Constable Crouch, R.C.M.P., investigated and discovered that Albert Legge, a bachelor aged 73, had been found dead in bed by a neighbor, death evidently taking place about 36 hours before. Dr. Graham, coroner, of Ponoka, was summoned, and after inquiring into the circumstances, concluded an inquest was not necessary.

The Times acknowledges the donation of a sample of honey from the apiaries of H. W. Love of Irma. Mr. Love is one of the largest dealers in honey in the Province and we know that his goods are of the highest quality. His trade mark is "Price of the Prairies," and the apiaries are located adjacent to some of the finest fields of sweet clover which gives the honey the delicate flavor which has made it so popular.

Ladies of the Camrose Royal Purple who visited the Wetskiwin lodge on Monday evening were Mrs. C. J. Duggan, Mrs. MacPhee, Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. Magee, Mrs. Slatery, Mrs. Glen Gardner, Mrs. I. Z. Hills, Mrs. Ness and Mrs. Billsten. After the regular ceremonies, a social hour was much enjoyed, during which Mrs. Duggan graciously thanked the ladies of the Wetskiwin lodge for their hospitality.—Camrose Canadian.

EAR-MARKED GASOLINE TAX TO PAY BILL

Calgary, Oct. 29.—Completion of the trans-Canada highway by the end of 1933 and appointment of an independent highway commission for each province were urged at the annual convention of the western division, Canadian Automobile Association, here last night.

Resolutions urging ear-marking of gasoline tax revenue and automobile license receipts for highway construction were also adopted by the convention.

In dealing with highway construction, a resolution declared that Federal government should give the provinces more assistance in this regard. It pointed out that since 1907 the Federal government had derived $500,000,000 in revenue from the Canadian motorists but had handed only $20,000,000 towards provincial highway construction. The advantages of providing highway construction as part of the relief projects to aid jobs were emphasized.

The trans-Canada highway could be entirely completed by the end of 1933 if the British Columbia and Ontario governments would press to a finish their sections of the highway. It was declared. The British Columbia government was urged to speed work on the Big Bend and the Ontario government was asked to complete the 150 miles between Schreiber and North Bay.

WETASKIWIN RUGBY SQUAD TO ENTER PROVINCIAL PLAYOFFS

The Wetskiwin rugby squad signified its consent to enter the Provincial Junior League playoffs, at a meeting on Wednesday. The team is in fine shape, and is chosen as a serious contender for the Ross Cup. It is expected they will play either Victoria or Garneau High in the near future. Watch for this game. It will be the best yet.

POULTRY POOL IS MOVED TO CAMROSE

Camrose, Oct. 29.—Headquarters of the Alberta Poultry Pool which has been carried on for some years in Edmonton, have recently been moved to Camrose and will operate from here from now on. It is said the handling of produce can be done more efficiently from here on account of this district being the heart of the producing centre of Northern Alberta.

DELIGHTFUL SHOWER HELD FOR POPULAR BRIDE-TO-BE

A delightful shower was held on Tuesday evening, October 25th, at the home of Miss Margaret Gullekson, in honor of Miss Gladys Reimer. The first part of the evening was spent in playing bridge, honors going to Miss Jean Taylor and Miss Lauretta Vickers. After a dainty luncheon served by the hostesses, Lillian Caine and Margaret Gullekson, the guest of honor was presented with many lovely and useful gifts. Those invited were, Mesdames E. Lysevig, W. Mounthorn and A. Levert, and the Misses Olive Kuchel, Jean Taylor, Iona Hanson, Merril Redman, Louise Edgeman, Alice Johnson, Alice Caine, Lauretta Vickers, Margaret Eikerman, Alice Dahlberg and Selma Gullekson.

APPEAL TO HELP THE WORK OF RED CROSS; $55,000 WANTED

A Province-wide appeal for the Red Cross will be launched in Alberta during the week of November 14th, as announced by Dr. Egbert, President of the Society.

The Provincial Executive have decided this year that only a straight Red Cross appeal should be made and that the relief which the Society is called upon to give will be dealt with through their own services, being limited to cases of sickness only, especially amongst children, and to service in the schools through the Junior Red Cross.

The Junior Red Cross Children's Hospital has during the past year been extended to accommodate 50 beds to supply the urgent needs occasioned by conditions prevailing throughout the Province. The appeal will be made especially on behalf of the hospital, and such cases of urgent need and sickness in outlying districts as cannot receive relief from the Government.

The work of the Red Cross in all its relief cases will be carried on in close co-operation with Government officials so as to avoid any overlapping.

The Society, states Dr. Egbert, appeals to every organization to all citizens of the Province, both young and old, to co-operate in this appeal, the objective of which is placed at $55,000.00. All funds raised will be spent within the Province and local Branches of the Society will retain out of the monies raised sufficient to supply their own needs, after which the balance will be forwarded to the Provincial Office for the work of the outlying districts.

REMEMBRANCE DAY SERVICE

On Friday, November 11th, at the Auditor Theatre, Wetskiwin, a Remembrance Day service will be held at 10:30 a.m., sponsored by the Peace Hill Chapter of the I.O.D.E. and Wetskiwin Post No. 36 Canadian Legion.

The sponsors cordially invite everyone to attend this most solemn Remembrance service for over 50,000 of Canada's sons who sacrificed their lives to maintain her high ideals.

On the conclusion of the service, all organizations will march to the Cross of Sacrifice there to pay their tribute to the Empire's dead.

All ex-service men are directed to assemble at the Driard corner not later than 10:15 a.m.

All organizations, social and fraternal, wishing to parade are requested to get in touch with Mr. P. Blundell, who has charge of the seating.

Roy Ballhorn left a few days ago in company with a friend from Bentley, on a big game hunt west of Rocky Mountain.

The reports of the Alexandra and King Edward Public Schools for the month of September and October were unavoidably held over until next week.

The dance given in the Elks' hall on Friday evening last under the auspices of the O.E.S., was a most enjoyable affair. The music was furnished by Bill Fraser and his Orchestra.

We regret to announce that the Missionary Thanksgiving meeting, which was to have been held Tuesday November 1st, had to be postponed owing to the absence of Miss Isabel Griffiths, who was unavoidably detained in Edmonton through illness.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cooke and daughter Edith expect to leave on Friday for the coast, where they will take up their residence. The host of friends have hope the change of altitude will be beneficial to Mrs. Cooke, and all join in wishing them every success in their new home.

The I.O.D.E. are again aiding the disabled returned men by selling Veteran Poppies on the streets on Saturday, November 5th. The Veteran Poppies are made in Calgary by men who were disabled in the World War, and it behooves all of us to do our part and help these men by buying the poppies they make.

The October meeting of the Battle River W.M.S. as held at the home of Mrs. J. Arnold with a good attendance. It was decided to hold a social evening in the Angus Ridge Community hall, November 10th, commencing with supper at 8. Any donations from friends for the supper and bazaar would be appreciated.

Rev. Appelt visited the Lutheran congregations at Alhambra and at Craig as Moderator for the Wetskiwin circuit, last week returning on Thursday. The meetings held were splendidly attended, although the members were without exception in the midst of threshing. This district has been hard hit. Many of the farmers have been hauled out three years in succession, and some of the wheat this year has been touched by the early frosts. Only about half the crop has been threshed and Thursday night a heavy and moist snowfall has again held up the threshing.

GOLDEN GLOW G.I.T. HOLLOW'EEN PARTY

On Friday last 36 boys and girls were met at the United Church basement door by Mrs. O. A. Ghost. They were assisted down a very dark flight of stairs and were led into an artistically decorated room. Merry games, such as musical arms, musical chairs, cross questions and crooked answers were indulged in and they caused a great deal of mirth. Thinking-caps were put on when an apple contest appeared on the scene, and a horse and rider had to be drawn on paper with the lights turned out. Partners were then escorted into a dark and gruesome tomb called "Death's Hollow." Amid shrieks and dreadful groanings and moaning, they heard of the tragical Mr. O. In the darkness they felt the different parts of him, eyes, ears, liver, teeth and brains. Supper partners selected, all lined up and received an appetizing lunch served cafeteria style. Following supper they entered a dimly lit room where each one placed a magic pin into the witch's boiling cauldron and drew out his fortune, which caused hilarious laughter. After consulting about the different fortunes all joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne" most heartily and departed for home.

Calgary public school teachers agreed Wednesday to an 11 per cent reduction in salaries, on a sliding scale, to replace the four per cent voluntary cut previously in force.

CARL LUDVIG CALLIES

Another of the pioneer settlers of the Wetskiwin district passed away on Friday last, after an illness of one year. He was in his sixtieth year having been born in Pomerania, Germany, in January, 1873. In 1884 he immigrated to the United States, and settled in Iowa, where he resided until 1901, when he came to Alberta, and located on a farm a few miles east of Wetskiwin, where he had since resided.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, three sons and six daughters, namely, Herman, Frederick, Edward and Mrs. H. C. Waller, Biggar, Sask.; Mrs. H. M. Switzer, Wetskiwin; Mrs. J. H. Pasenko, Ponchland, B.C.; Amanda, Wilhelmine and Dorothy, all seven grandchildren, and a host of friends and acquaintances.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon, service being conducted in the First United Church by Rev. A. R. Schrag, friends coming from far and near to pay their last tribute of respect to the departed. Interment took place in the family plot in the Wetskiwin cemetery.

MRS. LYDIA SCHMULAND

A cloud of sorrow visited the home of Mr. Rudolf Schmulland and community when it was learned that his beloved wife Lydia Schmulland, aged 40, passed away at the Wetskiwin hospital, nine days after an operation for appendicitis.

The funeral procession proceeded from her late home to St. John's Evangelical Church, five miles west of Wetskiwin, where the funeral service was conducted by Rev. H. G. H. Klingberg, who spoke words of consolation from Phil. 1:21. "For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." After the service the deceased was laid to her earthly rest in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran cemetery. The floral contributions were beautiful and many. The funeral was well attended.

Being true to Christ all her life, we trust that she passed away to be with Jesus in Heaven. Her last words were "Now I can pass away in peace." For her to live was Christ and to die was gain to her.—(Con.).

BABY DUMKEE

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Dumkee in the loss of their infant daughter, who was taken from them on Monday last at the age of two days. Rev. C. J. Mackay conducted the funeral service at Moore's undertaking parlors and the remains were tenderly laid away in the Wetskiwin cemetery.

NORMA CARLSON

The many friends regret to learn that Norma, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Carlson of Gwynne, passed away in the Wetskiwin hospital on Friday last, at the age of three years and four months. She had been in ill health for some time. The funeral took place Saturday afternoon, service being conducted in Moore's Undertaking Parlors by Rev. P. M. Meyer. The interment took place in the Wetskiwin cemetery.

BERTRAM M. PARKER

The citizens of Wetskiwin were shocked Sunday evening last to learn that Bertram M. Parker had passed away suddenly. He was in the prime of life, being aged forty-six years and four months, and was a well known and popular citizen, having conducted the business of the Royal Meat Market for several years. He was born in England, and came to this community about seventeen years ago, when he was employed by Burns & Company, as manager of the Wetskiwin branch of their business. A few years later, he purchased the business, and subsequently added a grocery department, which he conducted very successfully up to the time of his untimely death. Mr. Parker also took the keenest interest in public affairs, and served for a term as Alderman. Every movement having for its object the betterment of the community always had his wholehearted support.

On Tuesday evening last, the Wetskiwin Kiwanis Club was honored by having as their distinguished visitors, Andrew Whyte of Edmonton, National Vice-President, and D. H. Elton, K.C., of Lethbridge, Lieutenant Governor for Alberta. Among the other visitors were Julian Garrett, President of the Edmonton Club, Charles Garnett Past President, Ed. McGarvey of Edmonton, and others.

As this was the last meeting at which Kiwanian H. C. Cooke will be present, he was presented with a token of remembrance, to which he appropriately replied.

The principal address of the evening was given by Kiwanian Elton, and was one of the best addresses ever delivered before the Club. He referred to the present day conditions in the business world, and forcefully urged the men of today to have courage and strive for better things. His address was a great inspiration, and was listened to with rapt attention. The address was punctuated with gems of poetry, and with timely philosophy.

"There is a philosophy abroad today that may be called the philosophy of the defeatist school. Some people are saying 'things are going to the dogs,' just as they did in 110 A.D. when it was said civilization was at an end. In 1870 a phenomenon threw the New England states and other parts of the world into fear, a pitch darkness settled down at midday. People said the world's end was at hand. The Connecticut legislature was sitting at the time and one member moved that the session adjourn as the world was coming to an end. Another member moved that candles be brought and the business of the house continue. If the world is coming to an end, I want to be found going my duty, the latter member declared. 'There is the spirit needed today.' Mr. Elton said.

Ed. McGarvey and Stewart Campbell favored the gathering with solos, with Mrs. McMurdo at the piano. Kiwanis Ladies' Night will be held on Tuesday evening next, when cards and dancing will be enjoyed.

ALBERTA AGAIN COMPETITOR INTERNATIONAL GRAIN SHOW
Chicago, Oct. 29.—Alberta farmers will again be strongly represented at the International grain and hay show to be held in connection with the International livestock exposition at the Chicago stockyards November 26 to December 3.

According to the exposition management, entries from this province have been awarded the championship on wheat five times out of 13 years at this world's largest farm crops show. Other Alberta grown crops that have been given purple ribbon designations in past years at the Chicago exposition are oats, barley, rye, flax, field peas and alfalfa timothy, and red clover seed.

At the 1931 international grain and hay show Alberta exhibitors received six world championships out of the nine for which they competed.

The Alberta Presbyterian synod, in session in Edmonton last week, passed a resolution urging a readjustment of property divisions between the Presbyterian and United churches following the union of 1925.

wife one daughter and two sons, his father and one brother. A. H. all of Wetskiwin, as well as one brother in Seattle and a sister residing in California.

The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon, a brief service being conducted at the home at 2 p.m., which was followed by a public service at Immanuel Church, both of which were conducted by Rev. A. M. Trendell. The large number of flowers was a glowing tribute to the esteem in which deceased was held, and many of the friends who attended the obsequies were unable to gain admittance to the church. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. W. Somers, R. B. Lindsay, H. R. French, C. E. Compton, H. J. Montgomery and J. S. Orr.

Interment took place in the Wetskiwin cemetery.

THE CARPENTER and
THE COLLEGE MAN

Does education education? This pointed question was asked and answered under singular circumstances
at a banquet recently held in London, Eng. A man who had never made a speech in his life addressed a gathering of college graduates, and he made a hit. The article dealing with this was published from the pen of Alexander Irvine in the Teachers' World, and reprinted in Public Opinion. It is as follows:

"About one hundred and fifty students who had just received their degrees met for a final dinner, before they separated to go into various parts of the world, probably to never meet again. They had been so sufficed with dignified drivel
during the four years at college that they decided to omit the address at the final function.

"Of two hundred professors there was one man whose criticisms of college addresses was well known.
He had never made an address in his life, and it was suggested, more as a joke than with serious intent, to invite him to deliver the address. If they had imagined for a moment that he would accept the invitation, he never would have been asked. He accepted, however, and the committee decided to let the class grin and bear it.

"The dinner took place in one of the world's greatest hotels. The banqueting hall was known far and wide for its artistic arrangement and luxurious furniture. The young men were dressed in conventional full evening dress. Most of them were future captains of industry. During the course of the dinner there was a good deal of joking and some speculation about the professor's address. When the dinner was over the chairman rapped for order and introduced the speaker.

"Gentlemen," he began, "I never made a speech in my life, and I don't intend to begin now. I have something to say however, and in saying it I will follow Lister's three-fold rule: 'Stand up straightly speak out boldly, and sit down quickly.'"

"We are in one of the famous banqueting halls in the world. Belshazzar's hall compared to this was a lodging on the third floor back.
No such art existed in those days as we see around this room. No such wonders graced his board. What there was there was elegant for the day but we live in another age, an age of art, of craftsmanship and luxury.
From the four corners of the earth came the things on this table. From the lowest forms of day labor to the highest forms of art, we have around us samples of at least a hundred forms of human work.

"Take this tablecloth, to begin with. It is of most exquisite workmanship. It involves weaving—to go no farther back—bleaching, smoothing, designing. It is a dan-dask linen, beautiful and most pleasing to the eye. I want to ask you a question: Is there anyone here who knows from personal experience anything about the labor involved? Have any of you ever contributed any labor to the manufacture of table linens? I am serious, gentlemen. If any of you have, I would like him to say yes. There was absolute silence. I understand then," he continued, "that the making of such a thing is beyond your ken.

"Let me draw your attention to the samples of pottery here. Surely the men and women who produce such beautiful things are artists.
What a joy it must be for a man to hold such a thing in his hand—complete—and say, 'I made it!' Many forms of labor are involved here also—the digging of clay, the cutting, fashioning, painting, burning, baking and finishing. If there is a man here who has ever touched this form of labor, let him answer.
No one!

"There are samples of the most exquisite, and, I know, costly, cut-glass. That also involves much labor and great art. It is an unique industry in itself. I will not detail the process; we see the result,
but the various forms of labor involved are unknown to us. I would be rather surprised to find a man among you who had ever touched this industry at any angle.

"In this way he went over the silver, and dwelt rather lengthily on the subject of mining and the life of a miner. Nothing escaped his notice. He drew attention to the carpets and rugs on the floor, to the curtains and drapery of the great windows, to the mural decorations, executed by the greatest living mural painter. There was a rich fresco around the room. He called attention to it. When he had gone over most of the things in the room he turned again to the table.

"There are cut flowers here," he said. Most of you spent some years in the study of botany, but I don't think any of you would undertake to give us a complete classification of what we see and enjoy on the table. There was a disposition to laugh but he wiped the smiles from every face around the table by quickly saying, 'Remember you are to be congratulated that you are at an age when a sense of humor covers a multitude of sins, but personally I cannot enjoy that which gives me pain.

"I am a representative university man seriously asking myself and you whether the system we call education educates? The silence became oppressive. The men were thinking.

"Perhaps," he continued, "I should have put you more at ease." He telling you at the beginning that I have never experienced the joy of fashioning articles with my own hands. Nor anything useful for that matter. Here we are, then, a group of men on whom a university has set its stamp. We produce nothing we can eat, we could not even lend a hand in the making of anything we see around us, and truth compels me to venture the suggestion that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the chief motive of a college education is to escape actual participation in just such work as gives, or ought to give, joy to the worker.

"A timekeeper performs a useful function, so does a cash register, but the function of education is not to turn out timekeepers or cash registers. It has been truly said that if ten Bachelors of Art were wrecked in mid-ocean, they could not build a pontoon to save their lives! They would be equally helpless in any critical emergency where practical knowledge of the ordinary things around us were imperatively necessary. A statement of the problem is not a solution, and we do not gain much by stating that the system is to blame and we are not.

"You certainly are not to blame.
You are the victims of whatever system we have. I cannot say that I am blameless. I do not believe that the smattering of languages, of mathematics and history is education. I believe the system of cramming these things to pass an examination is pernicious. So having been asked for the first time in my life to make an address, I make it an opportunity to enter my protest.

"Education is to prepare and equip for the duties and responsibilities of life—not to turn out industrial and commercial bosses, gaffers, timekeepers and cash registers. I would hardly be justified in taking up your time with these observations alone. So, in addition, I want to say this: Most of you men are designed to be masters of men. You will organize and mobilize their labor, you will oversee it.

"When you see men around you actually creating beautiful things with their hands, I would like you to remember that it was my opinion the actual labor in the arts and the crafts and industries is an infinitely nobler contribution to the happiness of mankind than clipping coupons and living on the sweat of other men's brows.

"It will not come in our day,
but the world will ultimately come to understand that the training of the mind is as necessary as the training of the body. Why should it be considered an unthinkable thing that a carpenter or a blacksmith should used an education? Why should college men consider it degrading to handle tools and make useful and beautiful things?

"Why should a University perpetuate such a revolt against nature in which the man who does no useful work at all is considered a gentleman, and the creator of wealth and beautiful things should be considered a low caste in Anglo-Saxon civilization.

"I want to point out to you that the highest form of culture and refinement known to mankind was ultimately associated with tools and labor. In order to do that I must present to you a picture, imaginative, but in accord with the facts of history and experience."

"He pushed his chair back and stood a few feet from the table. His face betrayed deep emotion. His voice became wonderfully soft and irresistibly appealing. The college men had been interested; they were now spell-bound. He raised his hand, and went through the motion of drawing aside a curtain.

"Gentlemen," he said, "may I present to you a young Galilean who is a master builder—Jesus of Nazareth!"

"It was a weird act. The silence became oppressive. As if addressing an actual person of flesh and blood he continued:

"Master, may I ask you, as I asked these young men whether there is anything in this room that you could make with your hands as an other man make them?"

"There was a pause, a brief moment or two, then with a slow measured stride of an Oriental, he went to the end of the table and took the cloth in his hand, and made bare the corner of the table. In that position he looked into the faces of the men and said: 'The Master says

HALLOW'E'N

Each year on November first we hear no end of complaints re mischief wrought by youngsters and sometimes by oldsters, on the night previous.
Many people have somehow got the idea that any misdeed may be wrought on the night of October 31;
chitney, or for wallowing in the filth
that neither life nor property rights are of any account. How such an idea ever became embedded in the thinking apparatus of ordinarily sane humans is hard to explain. Boys and young men congregate in gangs and start out to enjoy themselves in a way that on any other occasion they would be ashamed to consider. They are not thieves, but seduced by the Hallow'e'en mania, they do steal turkeys or other poultry. They are not vandals, but they do wreck and destroy property. Would they see any fun in such doings on the 29th of October or the 2nd of November?
Not a bit of it. Then why in the name of common sense do they go in packs and thus disport themselves on October 31st?

Fun is easily made and enjoyed by everyone—old or young, but not the kind of amusement which causes loss or injury to a fellow citizen.
If a remedy is sought, we would suggest, not repression, but education. Early home training and discipline to instill into the child mind the idea of the right and the wrong of our actions affecting the rights and property of other people, would be the starting point. This, of course, presupposes that the parent should be able to teach their children using both example and precept in so doing.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION

Much attention has been commanded all the week by the unemployment situation, 33 containing particularly in the cities. Registered unemployed men in the province were reported at 6,891 and women 347. In Edmonton alone there were 1,350 single men on relief. Friday, and the city is now paying about $2,500 a day in relief to both families and single men. Discussions have been going on since Monday between the provincial government and Dr. W. J. Black, special relief officer from Ottawa, with a view to agreeing upon a relief policy.
Work camps for single men are to be established under joint federal and provincial auspices. The dominion will assume cost of food, maintenance and clothing, while the province will pay for administration and materials also providing camp equipment.

Don't Allow Unsightly Pimples
To Disfigure Your Face

The proper way to get rid of this unsightly skin disease is to go right to the seat of the trouble, the blood, and give it thorough cleansing by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters.
You will then have a smooth, clear complexion.
Mr. H. Shultz, Wingo, Ont.,
writes:—"Three years ago my face and neck were covered with pimples.
They were hard and inflamed, and itched so I used to scratch them which made them worse.
Nothing seemed to help me until
I started using Burdock Blood Bitters. After the first bottle I noticed a change, so got another, and in a short time the pimples had all gone."

William Irvine in Reply to Speech from Throne

Mr. Irvine: But the answer which is the kind of sound money we comes as easily as that is usually have at the present time. Is it a sound policy to deprive our friends to let the history of the de- people of the available abundance, to maintain them in various degrees of want down to the starvation point be- fore Great Britain to abandon her system. She did not take that action of her own volition, she was forced to do so. Was it not sound money, which the Prime Minister declared in his opening remarks at the Imperial conference had broken down? He stated that the sound money of the world had collapsed. If it collapsed, it no longer can be regarded as sound. The reason for its collapse was that its basis was unstable, and that basis was gold. Therefore, you cannot possibly have a safe sound system of money on a gold basis. The facts of history, not the opinions of the Prime Minister, myself or any- body else afford the best proof of my statements. We must take the cold, stern facts of history.

Can it be considered sound money when it has failed to perform the true function of money, namely, the distribution of goods? Goods are rotting in Canada because they cannot be distributed there being no money with which to distribute them. This is what has happened under the sound money system of this government. I ask a common-sense question: Is it sound money which fails to do that which sound money ought to do? Perhaps the Minister of Trade and Commerce (Mr. Stevens) will answer that question. I am quite sure that the answer will be that it is not sound money when it does not do what sound money ought to do.

Let me ask my hon. friend who is so loquacious: Is it sound money which ties this nation to the apron strings of Wall Street and which enables the financiers of New York to dictate the policy of Canada, whether it be under a Liberal or Tory government? Is that sound money?

ministration. Everyone knows what retrenchment means. It means that matters are made worse under conditions such as these. Every dollar withheld from circulation because of the retrenchment policy of this government means that from $10 to $20 worth of wealth is rotting because of the lack of a purchaser.

Let us see if we can find who has been maintained in such splendid financial position because of this policy. Are the working people in an enviable financial position? Let us ask those who have been put out or threatened to be put out of their homes because of inability to pay their rent if they are in an enviable financial position because of the policies of this or any other administration. Let us ask the mothers of the nation who have had to reduce their standards of living because of reduced incomes if they are in an enviable position. Let us ask the unemployed, who, by the way, number more than our bankers, if they are in an enviable financial position as they tramp by the rivers and take shelter under the bridges against the rains. Let us ask them this question as they beg from door to door for a bite to eat and as they try to steal rides at the risk of their necks upon our empty railway cars. I think we must come to the conclusion that these were not the people the king had in mind when he made that statement.

Let us ask some more questions. Let us ask the farmer who purchased his land and machinery when the dollar was worth forty-five cents and who is now called upon to pay for his purchases with goods worth one-third of what they were worth at the time of his investment, if his financial position has become sound and enviable. Let us ask the farmer who has not paid the interest on his mortgage for two or three years let alone reduce the principal if his financial position is enviable. Let us ask the farmers both in the east and west, who have been producing at a loss and who have had to reduce their standards of living in order to stay upon the land if their financial position has become enviable because of the policy of sound money. We must say again: Evidently the speech from the throne does not refer to the farmers.

During the past year the business men of this country have had to struggle to pay their interest charges and meet their notes at the banks; they have had to face reduced sales while overhead costs remained the same; many have been driven into bankruptcy but let us ask them if their financial position has been made enviable. I think we must come to the conclusion that the speech from the throne does not refer to the banking people, to the farmers or to the business men. Did it mean the professional men then? Ask the doctors who have been working for two years, in many cases for nothing, unable to collect their fees because there was not enough money in circulation in the pockets of their patients to pay them. Ask the lawyers who have been doing very little most of the time and getting nothing for what they have done. Ask them if the position is one that is enviable in a financial way. You will find out then that the speech from the throne means simply that the only people whose financial position has been made enviable are those who have control of the finances of Canada, the credit of Canada, the banking of Canada, the people from whom we borrow and the people who live by debts. By setting these few against the entire population of the state, we have a policy which has stabilized the financial position of half a dozen and left the 9,999,994 to go any place they like. I suggest to the government in all seriousness that they take those financiers and their enviable financial position along with them, put them on some island by themselves and there let them rejoice forever more in their enviable financial position, but allow the people of Canada by some means to enjoy the abundance which they have created.

Would it not have been better if the king had been caused to say truthfully: I rejoice that my people have produced abundantly and that they are allowed to enjoy that abundance; I rejoice not only that the standards of living have been maintained among the working people and the farmers, but that there has been a rise in both cases and I rejoice that in so far as economic wellbeing can make people happy, my people are happy. What a strong, epoch-making speech from the throne that would have been! But alas, instead of that we have an enviable financial position for the few, a strong financial structure in Canada, if you please, but we have ailing, hopeless multitude of people and we have abundance of goods that cannot be consumed and growing debts that cannot be paid. All these things are present and yet we must think God and rejoice that we have an enviable financial position.

I must hurry on to the printing press. Those who have opposed the suggestions in regard to monetary reform, which, at least since 1923, have come from this section of the house, have never tried to answer the arguments or to meet the facts. They have always endeavored to scare people by throwing up their hands and shouting about printing presses. I think they had better not so loudly about printing presses, because it must not be forgotten that the banks use the printing press to print the notes, and they use the people's credit behind it to justify them in doing that. It must not be forgotten that the state uses the printing press to print the notes that must redeem the notes of the bank, so they must not laugh at that. If it is all right for the bankers to use the printing press in the interest of the people, let hon. members take that printing press suggestion home with them and think about it, and then let them not talk so much about printing presses hereafter. But let me hasten to say that no one from this corner of the house has ever been so foolish as to advocate that we print money on a printing press to pay our obligations in New York. That was the statement of the Prime Minister. We have never been guilty of such folly and I have never heard anybody else utter such a statement as that.

The Prime Minister, in the development of his argument proceeded to say that when Great Britain went off the gold basis, that struck a terrific blow to Canada, a knock-out blow, somebody suggests. I think if Canada had followed Great Britain, she would have ducked the blow. That is the point. Great Britain did not get any blow. It was the best thing that ever happened to her, and in that regard let me refer my hon. friend who says that she got a blow, to The World's Economic Crisis by Sir Arthur Salter, K.C.B., Sir Josiah Stamp, K.C.B., J. Maynard Keynes, M.A., Sir Basil Blackett, K.C.B., Henry Clay, M.A., D.Sc., and Sir W. H. Beveridge, K.C.B. If those names and letters following them cannot convince my hon. friend of their authority, I cannot. He will find in this very book that the ablest economist in Great Britain points out, not in these words that I am going to use, but to the same effect, that the slipping off the gold basis was one of the best things that had happened to Great Britain in many years. There is no need to argue that. If my hon. friend who is grumbling his objection has not been convinced of that, it is hopeless to try to convince him. My point still stands that if Canada got a blow, she received it because she stuck her head in one spot and refused to move it out of the road of the blow. Let me say Great Britain slipped off the gold basis was the relentless logic of the sound money theory that is advocated by this government. Great Britain did not choose to go off the gold basis. On the contrary a national government was formed and elected by the people to keep her on the gold basis.

Mr. Chaplin: Does the hon. member argue that Canada remains on the gold basis?

Mr. Irvine: That is another question which I shall be glad to take up at another time.

Mr. Garland (Bow River): The Prime Minister says it is on the gold basis.

Mr. Irvine: Canada is hanging by her fingertips on the gold basis, a condition of affairs which leaves us in a worse position than if we were completely off it. But the folly of this cannot longer be doubted. The unconvincing declaration of the Prime Minister yesterday about our adherence to sound money means nothing other than to hang on to the gold basis and, if possible to hunch up on it a little further than we are. I say again that the sound money theory was the cause of Great Britain going off the gold basis, so what arguments can be set forth in favour of the sound money theory which plays such tricks as the Prime Minister said that it played on us when Great Britain slipped off the gold basis?

Let me also emphasize what was brought out clearly last night by the hon. member for Acadia (Mr. Gardner). There are, by the way, seventeen countries that are off the gold basis today and that are working in harmony on the pound sterling basis. These seventeen countries have not met with destruction. As a matter of fact Great Britain borrowed enormous amounts of money from France, and the United States to enable her to stay on the gold basis, and after she went off the gold basis against her will, she found this so profitable that she was able to pay off those loans in New York before they became due. I would ask the Prime Minister to inquire from Great Britain how, when they are off the gold basis, they could pay their commitments in New York. Indeed when they were further off the gold basis by a long way than we are now, without apparently losing anything to hurt. There must be some way of doing this. Great Britain did it.

Mr. Spencer: She got gold.

Mr. Irvine: That brings me to the next point, that the best way to get gold is to go off the gold basis. As soon as we go off the gold basis, we can outside this country buy goods cheaper in Canada than anywhere else, and therefore they buy more of them. The result is that we can afford to ask for gold in return for the balance of trade and so the more gold this country wants the better it can get it by getting off the gold basis just as far as it can. Canada, in spite of all these facts, is apparently putting gold basis before the empire. I would draw the attention of hon. members to statements made by Mr. Darling who is an eminent British banker, who, in a statement published in this country a few days ago, called attention to the enormous amount that Canada has to pay every year in interest in New York. Then he pointed out that the government's policy of holding tenaciously to the gold basis would openly challenge Empire solidarity. One can readily see that the results of the Imperial economic conference have affected trade favourably—at least I hope so. But the difference in exchange will more than wipe out any advantage possible in a trade agreement with Great Britain. For instance, if an Australian sells a steer in Great Britain for £10 he receives in return approximately $60. If a Canadian sells a steer in Great Britain for £10 he receives only $40, or less than that. Tell a Canadian farmer that we are standing for sound money, but that he is being cheated of $20 on the selling price of a steer, and see what he says. See how many votes you will get. Let us consider the matter from a political, and not an economic point of view. Farmers will not stand for that sort of thing; they will say, "To hell with your sound money, we want to sell our goods!" Mr. Garland (Bow River): And they are saying it.

Mr. Irvine: I am not saying exactly what they say, it might not be parliamentary. As my forty minutes have almost expired let me conclude by saying that apparently the government intends to retain the gold basis. Gold is only one commodity; it is so scarce that it cannot function. It is very hard to find, and there is not enough of it. As one commodity it can be cornered by one nation, and under such circumstances it would be impossible for our financial system to function. That is what is called a sound money system. We stand for a money system based upon the character of the Canadian people, plus all the wealth of the Canadian people—not on only one commodity.

"I Gotta Order More Robin Hood Flour"

At this time of year flour bins are as bare as the youngster. It is time to lay in a supply of good, dependable Robin Hood flour.

Most women now know that the reason Robin Hood flour is so CLEAN and PURE is because the wheat is scrubbed and scoured in mammoth wheat washers before milling. Many, however, have asked this question: "Why is it I get bigger loaves and more of them from a bag of Robin Hood?" Here is one of the reasons:

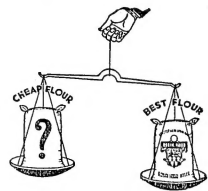

When the wheat berry is ground in milling, dust and fibre are present. Between your thumb and finger this fibre feels like lint from a carpet sweeper. If left in the flour, it becomes a deadweight to the dough. Robin Hood Mills removes this fibre with an intricate system of silk sieves, some of them as fine as 125 meshes to the inch. Only the pure granules of flour pass through the sieves . . . the dust and fibre is taken off and used for hog feed.

Dust and fibre present in CHEAP, poorly milled flour retard the action of yeast in the dough, resulting in small, flat loaves, heavy in texture and unappetizing in flavor. Robin Hood flour naturally goes farther in baking because it consists only of CLEAN, PURE flour granules—no dust, no fibre. When mixed in the dough, it responds to yeast gases readily and the bread rises high in the pans, producing more loaves of better bread.

Robin Hood flour protects your health and your pocket book. It is both safe and economical.

STUDY THIS PICTURE— THEN THINK

The difference in cost between CLEAN, PURE Robin Hood flour, and CHEAP, poorly milled flour is only 1c PER DAY FOR A FAMILY OF FOUR.

GWYNNE

Carl Nygren and Victor Larson left Monday morning for the west, on a moose hunt.

The masquerade dance held here on Monday night was a success, with a large crowd, and everyone had a good time. Mrs. A. Fiehaber, Minnie Rupertus and Mrs. P. Girard won the prizes.

Melvin Berg, who has been working at Fiehaber's, left last Saturday for Edmonton.

The Ladies' Aid annual sale of fancy work at Crooked Lake school last Saturday night was well attended and everything sold.

FALUN

The Live Wires held a very successful dance in the Lone Ridge hall on Friday last. Mrs. McMurdy's orchestra playing. The draw on the quilt took place, with Miss E. Milton holding the lucky ticket, No. 51.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Steedman gave an interesting Halloween party on Saturday evening last. Those present were the Monaghan, Isaacson, Hart, old Nelson and Cronin families. Games were enjoyed by every child, not to say the grownups, who dived for apples and scrambled for peanuts likewise. After games, a delicious lunch was served, and all departed to their respective homes, tired but happy, in the wee hours of the morning. Alfred Carlson is confined to the house these days. We all hope to see him up and around again soon. Due to changeable weather there are many others under the weather, too.

Miss Lucy Spornlund left for Springdale last Tuesday, where she is assisting her aunt, Mrs. I. Bengtson. New neighbors have moved into the community in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie and daughters. They have moved onto the place of the late Mrs. Leavenworth.

Monday afternoon, the teacher, Miss N. Timofeffa, entertained the school children to a Halloween party. Games were played and contests as well were tried. After a lunch the children departed. An enjoyable time was had by the children, as well as a few of the mothers who came for the party.

BITTERN LAKE

The social evening put on by the church in the Community hall last Friday, was a real success. The hall was filled to capacity and the evening was spent in cards and dancing. 16 tables of whist was played.

Edgar and Vic Alm expect to load a car next Monday and leave to take up farming at Peace River. Vic Alm intends to go with the stock, while Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Alm and wee daughter intend to motor up. While we dislike to see them leave, we all join in wishing them luck in their new locality.

A farewell party was held at the Rosedale Ranch on Nov. 1st, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Alm. The evening was spent in dancing.

It looks like winter again. The farmers are getting out their sleighs and several farmers are doing their hauling on them. The lake is frozen over, and no doubt there will be skating before long.

Mrs. D. Gouchee and family are the new car owners.

The Denton-Carlson wedding dance takes place in the Community hall on November 2nd.

Henry Wicklund has been busy the last few days moving his mother's household effects up to Algot Wicklund's on the H. Roper farm, where she will make her home.

A. L. Peterson has purchased a new grinder.

HILLSIDE

R. Fietz had the misfortune to lose his house by fire last Tuesday during the high wind storm.

Eugene Marr won first prize for his plot in the Alfalfa Club, while Ivan Swartz came second and Willie Rute third.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Howes and Miss Anslie were Edmonton visitors on Saturday.

The W.I. members are asked to note the change in the next meeting date, November 23rd.

E. Marr and W. Haines were in Edmonton Saturday, attending the Calf Club competition held at the University of Alberta.

A number of members from the three locals will attend the U.F.A. convention being held in Wetaskiwin on the 8th.

NAVARRE

The school children feel very rich this week having received their prize money both from the School Fair and the Pest Destruction Contest.

About seventy-five people gathered in the Bulyea school for the Halloween party Friday evening. The committee in charge consisted of Robert Rhodes, Donald Short and David Armstrong. The pupils had attractively decorated the school in the usual orange and black tacs. An original touch to the decorations was the addition of quite a quantity of genuine skulls of dead animals gathered in the vicinity of the school. A short program was presented by the pupils, after which some games and stunts were led by the teacher, Mr. Williamson. Two contests were conducted and the prizes won by Miss Susie Ochs and Miss Alma Kasur respectively. Quite a large number appeared in costume and these were judged by popular vote. First prize was won by C. C. Nelson, who appeared as a bride, and second prize by Donald Berry, who was dressed as a squaw.

After apples had been bobbed for, lunch was served by the ladies of the district. At the close of the evening, J. E. Ware, chairman of the School Board, moved a vote of thanks to the teacher, which was heartily seconded by everyone. Mr. Williamson suitably replied, bringing to a close a delightful gathering.

Miss Gladys Nelson returned last week from the Twin Creek District, where she spent a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Nelson.

Miss Andrea Thorsen is spending a few days at Cherry Grove, visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Shantz.

Miss Leita Ochs has been spending some time visiting friends in Edmonton.

Miss Annie Pratt and Messrs. Harris and Percy Korstad of Meeting Creek were Tuesday visitors at the home of Mrs. Nelson. Mr. Miss Frances Nelson accompanied them on their return to Meeting Creek, and will visit for a few days there at the home of her sister Mrs. H. M. Korstad.

Miss Mae Shantz of Cherry Grove, is visiting this week at the home of her grandfather, Mr. G. Thorsen.

Miss A. Rea entertained a number of the Bears Hill young people at a jolly Halloween party at the J. S. Hewitson home Monday evening. Everyone reports having had a very enjoyable time.

The Bear's Hill school children had their Halloween party Monday afternoon. A number of grownups were present. A pleasant time was spent with games and a short program, after which lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Nelson spent Sunday in Wetaskiwin at the home of Mrs. Nelson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Wagar.

NEW SWEDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Johnson were Sunday guests at Clarence Pearson's. Several New Swedenites visited Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmar Anderson of Edberg on Sunday.

A Young Peoples' rally was held at Highland Park on Sunday.

Wm. Schantz attended the Liberal Convention in Edmonton on Friday.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blanch on Sunday.

The Cherry Grove children enjoyed a Halloween party on Friday afternoon.

The Mission Ladies' Aid met at Ed. Larson's on Wednesday afternoon. Gordon Peterson celebrated his seventh birthday on Thursday by having his little cousins in for the afternoon.

Elizabeth Schmits is assisting at the Walter Schantz home, as Mrs. Schantz has been on the sick list.

WINFIELD

The Minister of Education, the Hon. Perren Baker, addressed a very attentive audience in the pool hall, Friday evening. He spoke on education, and the need for it, telling of the system in use in the province today, the improvement made in the last decade, and the further improvements he hopes to make. Mr. Young also spoke on conditions as they are, and Mr. J. J. Duggan, who accompanied them told some much appreciated stories. Mr. Ginther was chairman.

Several from Winfield attended the Halloween party at Wenham Valley. The snowfall, of from five to six inches, makes sleighing possible; it should not seriously interfere with threshing, since most of the grain is stacked here.

Father Harrison of Lacombe, and Father Murphy of Rimbey, were guests at the Peerless hotel last week.

The funeral of Ralph Tanner was held from his home to Maywood cemetery last Tuesday. Mr. Tanner, who has been in ill-health for some time, succumbed to a heart attack Saturday night, while his family were sleeping. He leaves a widow, and seven children, the eldest eighteen, the youngest a baby of a few months. Much sympathy is extended to the family. Mr. Tanner had been teacher at Maywood for this term.

MALMO

Special services will be held in the Svea Lutheran Church at Malmo, on Sunday, November 6th, at 10:30, commemorating the 300th anniversary of the death of Gustafus Adolphus. There will be special music and a lunch will be served at noon.

MULHURST

(Contributed)

For a small place, Mulhurst has a varied and interesting program of events these last three weeks.

A. C. Moody, with his cortege of helpers, has been a busy man. One could hear the buzz of his threshing machine, first one side of the main road, then the other. He apparently has finished operations just in time, as this morning (Thursday) the people awakened to a change of scene, Mulhurst and district being clothed in a wonderful blanket of fluffy down—the first snowfall of the season.

Church has been started in the Spring Hill school house, and will continue during the winter months, every other Sunday at 2:30, weather permitting. Rev. Smith, the pastor, seems to take a special interest in the children. He gave them a short address, during which he asked them several questions, creating a personal interest. Mrs. J. MacCauley presided at the organ.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Oulmette are taking advantage of the slack time by having the dining room and hall of the hotel "Class Oulmette" remodelled. R. B. MacPherson (Roddie) the Mulhurst pioneer carpenter, is in charge.

H. Dowler has been having a very serious time with his foot, which was cut with an axe some time ago. His many friends will be glad to know it is improving. There seems to be a series of minor accidents in the district. Instead of the proverbial three or four times, Mrs. F. Dowler, Mrs. C. C. Moody, O. Strong, Master Leslie Oulmette and many others.

Mrs. E. C. MacPherson, a former resident of Bonnie Glen, has been visiting her son, R. B. MacPherson and family, also her brother, B. Huyck and family, and a single brother, Ross Huyck. She had a most enjoyable time, until just recently, when through illness she has had to forego the pleasure of meeting old friends, or visiting the different homes.

A very enjoyable time was spent at the home of Sandy Wager last Friday evening, where dancing was the order of entertainment, until the "wee wee" hours of the morning.

On the same evening a group of young people attended a Red Cross gathering at Thorby. Needless to say, everyone enjoyed themselves, as that is a requisite of Red Cross ventures, "never say die."

We were reminded the other day that even dumb animals enjoy the "change is as good as a rest." The two saddle horses belonging to D. and A. Clark wanted a change of scene and traveled to Camrose.

Mr. Mulligan, who is one of the real pioneers of the district, has been improving in health lately after a lengthy term of poor health. Mr. and Mrs. Mulligan have been less active in community life during the last few years, but are still kept busy by the Post Office, since moving to their beautiful home by the lake shore.

Hunters are looking forward to the hunting season, which will soon be here. Also fishing.

Mr. William, fish warden, has just returned from his supervision of his district of bird sanctuaries.

Two young girls came to Mulhurst lately, who are going to be permanent residents for a time at least. Mr. and Mrs. A. MacCalley and Mr. and Mrs. T. Cummins are the proud parents of baby girls. Both mothers and daughters are doing well.

WINFIELD U.F.A.

This district was favored with a visit and lecture by the Hon. Fern E. Baker, Minister of Education, in Winfield on Friday, October 25th.

Three interesting talks were given and listened to attentively by all present. H. G. Young, Millet U.F.A. Director, spoke on the present conditions in Canada, the activities of our Federal member, the Imperial Conference, etc. The principal speaker, Mr. Baker, gave a good address on the present school system in Alberta, the many improvements during the past ten years and his hopes and aspirations for the future. It was a talk well worth going long distances to hear.

Mr. Duggan a member of the Assessment Staff, who accompanied Mr. Baker, ended off the evening by telling three funny stories and asking that people try to be more cheerful, laugh more, stating that it was his opinion that if people would talk and act more cheerfully and hopefully, it would go a long way toward curing the depression.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the speakers by those present.

LIBRARY NOTES

Last Saturday proved a busy day in the Library, 108 borrowers taking out double that number of books. Four new members were enrolled, bringing the total membership to 903.

A new book by the popular author Warwick Deeping is "Old Wine, New." The author has proved himself a master of that type of novel which not only creates a perfect background and atmosphere of English life, but which reveals real people, working out their lives and problems. He goes beneath the surface and shows us the stirring of emotion, the comedy and the pathos of the common round, and the marked changes which have taken place in the structure of English society in recent years—"Old wine in new bottles."

"Miss Pinkerton," by Mary Roberts Rinehart. Fear lies in ambush when night falls in the old Mitchell mansion; death lurks on the staircase and prowls through the bedrooms. Upstairs lies the body of a man who may have killed himself; downstairs an eccentric old woman creeps stealthily from her sick bed. And Nurse Adams (the D.A.'s office calls her Miss Pinkerton) planted in the house by Inspector Patten, feels something evil brush past her in the dark. A mystery that chills your bones and a romance that warms your heart.

"Modern Madonna," by Alice Ross Colver. "If I loved a man, I would fight for him tooth and nail, claw and talon." Such was the budding philosophy of Sally, youngest daughter of the large and tempestuous Moffat family. Little did she realize at the time how difficult it would later prove to live up to such a belief. Against a severely beautiful New England background, Mrs. Colver traces the story of Sally's sudden emergence from girlhood in an atmosphere of tangled marriages.

These books head the list as some of the best sellers published this fall.

BLAMING THE OTHER FELLOW

In times of great stress such as we are now experiencing unfair and unjust criticism is frequently offered to governments, bankers and other institutions blaming them for the depression. The editor of The Hanna Herald, on this subject, says:

"We have not particular objective to attain in championing the cause of the banks, but we think that our Canadian banking system has proven itself to be immeasurably superior to that of the United States where some three thousand banks closed their doors during the past three years. Had that condition obtained in Canada, we would be in an infinitely worse position than we are now."

"The causes of the world depression are manifold and include the following: intense nationalism resulting in high tariffs and trade restrictions of various kinds; over-speculation resulting in a financial collapse and the customary aftermath; mechanical and over-production causing uneconomically low prices; the stupendous pile of unpayable war debts bearing heavily on international trade; the 'cornering' of gold by France and the United States."

"Of course the bankers of the world make extremely serious errors and certainly have to share a grave responsibility. They assumed that this depression was a mere reaction after expansion and would soon correct itself. When they saw their mistake they became panicky and their subsequent actions merely added to the trouble."

'ABSURD ISN'T IT

The absurdity of the present times is outlined in rather bitter satire in a brief article which Len Nesbitt says he read recently:

"Why must so many of us go hungry? Because our granaries and elevators are bursting with food."

"Why must so many of us wear shabby clothes? Because there are too much wool and cotton in the world, too many mills and too many garment workers."

"Why must so many of us live in dilapidated shacks? Because we have too much lumber, too much steel, too many carpenters, too many plumbers, bricklayers and plasterers."

"Why doesn't the business world go ahead and create enough wealth to banish poverty? Because our productive capacity is far too great."

"We have too much wealth in some places and too little in others. Why can't we transport the wealth to the places of great need? Because we have too many railways, too much railway equipment, too many trucks, too many railroad workers, too many chauffeurs, and far too much coal and gasoline."

"Why don't we put enough money

SHOWER HELD FOR THREE NEW BRIDES

A very unusual event took place at Haultain school on Monday, when neighbors and friends from near and far held a shower in honor of the three brides, namely, Mrs. Henry Johnson (nee Florence Humble), Mrs. Fred Humble (nee Ruth Greenwall), and Mrs. Harold Payne (nee Gladys Reimer).

The evening was spent in singing and matrimonial contests. An impromptu mock wedding was held, which afforded much amusement to all present. Arranged in wedding attire, three couples marched up to the front, to the strains of a very popular air, there to be joined in wedlock by a much respected minister.

After the ceremony the couples filed out, only to return with two large clothes baskets and a baby carriage well laden with presents for the brides.

Ether Dahlberg gave an impressive speech of congratulations and advice to the brides, also a very appropriate reading entitled "Add to your Trouseau," to which the brides all very fittingly replied.

The large number of beautiful and useful gifts showed the high honor and esteem in which our young friends are held. After singing "For they are jolly good fellows," a dainty lunch was served by the ladies.

May we extend our heartiest congratulations and best wishes to the three newly-wed couples. Our only regret is that they will be leaving our district, but we know that our loss will be their new neighborhood's gain.

HOW THE FARMER MAKES HIS MONEY

Mike Brenda, presumably a farmer in the Camrose district, writes to The Camrose Canadian as follows: This is the way the farmer makes money:

Sixty acres of wheat yields 715 bushels, 31 acres of oats yields 578 bushels; 7 acres of barley yields 56 bushels.

To sell this grain I will get: Seven hundred and fifteen bushels wheat at 7c, $192.05; 578 bushels oats at 7c, $39.45; 56 bushels barley at 6c, $3.36; total $234.87.

On this crop it cost me last spring, hired man, $45; stocking, $28; binder repairs, $11.50; twine, $45.50; threshing bill, $54.54; eight teams for two days at $3 per day, $48; binder for threshers $16.50; total $237.09.

I am losing $2.22 and what about my seed and feed that I put in last spring, and my summer's work with seven horses and wear and tear on my machinery, and myself? And what about my taxes, seed, feed, clothes and food for next year? Oh, yes on top of this I paid $3 seizure costs on my grain to the municipality of Lloyd George.

READY FOR SCHOOL

(By Barbara B. Brooks)

Rightly begun a battle is half won. This is especially true of a child's life, and a wise mother will make every possible effort to equip her child properly and start his day right.

Are the children starting the day completely refreshed after a good night's rest of ten or eleven hours, with plenty of fresh air while sleeping? The necessity of lots of sleep will be realized if we remember that the body builds while we rest. It is easy to tell when children have had enough rest for early to bed makes it easy to rise.

Next, did the children have time and appetite for a good substantial breakfast that will last them through the morning and give them clear, alert minds? Such a breakfast would include, first of all, fruit or fruit juice to awaken the appetite and furnish vitamins and minerals. Next it would include cereal and milk for fuel with which to heat and nourish active young minds and bodies, and protein with which to build. Whole wheat toast or a little all-bran added to the cereal will supply roughage so essential to keep body processes regulated, and clean and stimulate sluggish systems. Lastly, any child's meal is not complete without a glass of milk or cocoa, for milk is rich in protein and the minerals necessary for the proper formation of teeth and bones.

If yours is a child with little desire to eat in the morning, try tempting his appetite rather than coaxing it. Change his breakfast from day to day by using different fruits, a variety of cereals, and eggs prepared in several ways. It is particularly easy to secure variety in breakfasts just now with the goodly number of fresh fruits on the market. Ready-to-eat in circulation to move this vast stored up wealth? Because the banks are embarrassed with huge sums of money in savings."

cereals, too, offer many changes. Children like their crisp freshness, and being light and easily digested they do not give a "too-full" feeling. On cold mornings when a warm breakfast is desired pour hot milk and butter over these cereals. Some fruits are very appetizing when sliced and served with ready-to-eat cereals. Bananas with corn flakes and cream make a particularly attractive dish. With a breakfast planned along these lines a child should have sufficient nourishment for a busy morning at school.

The following breakfasts will adequately supply a child's needs: Baked apple in honey with cream, rice krispies, whole wheat toast, butter, milk. Wheat flakes with sliced bananas, poached egg on Graham toast, milk.

BEER IS GOOD FOR YOU

The following statement was made by Sir Thomas Horder, physician to the Prince of Wales, at a public dinner gathering held April 15th, in London, England:

"The willing and happy worker will get more work done and do it better than the unwilling and discontented worker. It is in this diet that alcoholic beverages really make the great contribution to economic efficiency."

"Appetite is a function of the brain as much or even more than of the stomach, and its importance in the physiology of digestion and nutrition is very great. It is stimulated by a moderate use of such a beverage as beer, and at the same time sets in larger and richer activities."

The beer brewed in Alberta contains every element and quality that Sir Thomas Horder would expect to find in the wholesome beverages of malt and hops he so strongly advocates.

from William Irvine, M.P.

The vote on the Imperial Conference agreement is expected on Monday. It would appear that every argument which can be conceived by members on both sides of the House has been put forward, for or against. In previous communications I have endeavored to summarize the objections of the Opposition and which objections no doubt left the impression that there was little, if anything, in the treaty to justify supporting it. I shall now state some of the conclusions which are now possible, after having heard the exhaustive arguments on both sides of the question.

There can be no doubt that the high expectations as to the Conference results inspired both by the Government and the press of the country have not been justified as the means of ending the depression, and its policies were expected to solve the present economic problems of Canada, as well as of the other countries of the British Commonwealth. Of course, these were exorbitant expectations, and it was bad policy even politically for the Government and the press to have raised the hopes of the people so high. Disappointment was inevitable, and that disappointment has been so great as to have produced a decided reaction markedly unfavorable to the administration. In time it may appear that, while the results from the Imperial Economic Conference were not so spectacular as anticipated, nevertheless the Conference was not an absolute failure.

It seems clear that the Conference missed a great opportunity. Not only was the economic situation in the world at large conducive to the adoption of far-reaching policies of trade and finance by the Nations of the British Commonwealth, but the people behind these Governments were ready for, and expectant that such policies would be forthcoming. While any other market, since other countries had raised their tariffs against Canada previously to such an extent as to almost, if not entirely, prohibit any shipments to them. But the adverse exchange as between Canada and Great Britain prohibits us from taking any trade advantage which the agreements may provide. It is true, of course, that the exchange question is one separate from the traded agreements, and it is also true that the adverse exchange may disappear any day, while the trade treaties go on for five years. Nevertheless, there is no use overlooking the fact that Canadian farmers, lumbermen, etc., simply cannot ship to the British market while our dollar is worth so much more than the pound. The failure of the Conference in this matter of exchange and in financial policy in general was so great that it overwhelmed any measure success it may have achieved in trade agreements.

It is very doubtful if the immediate benefits to be derived from the agreements, even were the exchange on a parity, would justify voting for them, if there were not other and more remote considerations. If we look ahead for fifty years we might see that the Internationalism which critics of the agreements declare they desire to achieve has come about through such measures of co-operation as were begun by the group of Nations called the British Commonwealth. The tendency of world events would appear to be toward economic co-operation Internationalism. Such co-operation must begin among those Nations willing to co-operate. British Nations have expressed that willingness and have made a beginning, even if a humble and meagre one, in that field of greatest competition, namely trade. The processes of arriving at an ultimate and desirable Internationalism may be discovered in the steps from the tribe to a world economic unity. The Nation was an advance upon the Tribe; the Empire an advance upon the Nation; a Commonwealth of Nations an advance upon the Empire; and the next may be the Commonwealth of Man, the Federation of the World.

To make it easier to trade within the Empire was the objective of the Conference. The Governments concerned, with that motive in view, drafted the agreements now under discussion. These agreements may be far from what we desire, and indeed it might be just recompense if every Government engaged in the drafting of the should meet with defeat at the hands of the people for not having achieved more favourable agreements, nevertheless, to vote against the agreement, as Canadians, would be to indicate to the British people that we were adverse to trading with them on a preferential basis. For this reason, it would be better to vote for the treaty in Parliament, because of what it was intended to be, and to vote against the Government in the country because it failed to achieve in the agreements a greater measure of preferential trade within the Empire.

The question is not one of rejecting these agreements in favor of other agreements more likely to result in greater trade within the Empire; it is rather a question of voting for this treaty or have no treaty at all, and that would mean that we could not immediately go back to the situation as it was prior to the Conference but we would find that, for instance, Australia would have a six cent preference in Great Britain on wheat as against Canada, since Canada would be outside of the agreement and Australia within it. These considerations make it difficult for Western Members to vote against the agreement, even although while voting for it they are fully conscious that the actual results for their constituents will be practically nil.

Convinced as the Government must now surely be that their own efforts for Empire trade are being absolutely nullified by the adverse exchange, it is surely not too much to hope that they will be spurred to take action. Sooner or later, the Canadian Government must make its choice between the bondholders and the people. If, when that choice is made, the Government favours the people, it will immediately proceed to increase the volume of credit in currency. Such action would, of course, reduce the income of bondholders, but by the same token would decrease the debts of the people and bring our dollar on a parity with the British pound, thus enabling us to take whatever advantage there may be in the trade agreements.

If even a few friends of The Times will only remember us from week to week in a little way, it will help amazingly to make this paper much easier and therefore that much better from the real test of a paper, the subscriber's standpoint.

OPINION OF MALMO DISTRICT THRESHING CREW

(By the Cook)

In the month of September in '32, I hired out to cook for a threshing crew.

In Malmo district, 'twas the A.B.L. Dame Rumor said "That crew was swell!"

Early in the morning at half-past four The old kitchen fire began to roar. The kitchen is warm, the clock nears five, And then, sure enough, the cooks are alive.

Porridge, coffee, spuds, eggs and bacon Are the main items for the breakfast ration. The boys file in, each one to his place, Soap has wrought wonders on each shining face.

First to the table who do you think? Why, the separator man, our good friend Hink! Mr. Bucknell, the engineer, Is usually the next man to appear; Who stokes straw in the old engine? Henning Nelson, he's the fireman. The spike pitcher? His name is Bill. All day pitches bundles with a real good will.

Evoid Nelson, on the water tank, Is a handsome young Swede, long and lank.

Bundle haulers, they number eight, And Douglas is first as sure as fate. First in what? Why the cook's estimation. He always wipes dishes! Ain't that a good reason?

Jolly and witty, with a permanent smile, That applies to Leonard, who is next in file.

Gus Beskus, who is always so quiet, But they say with the girls he sure is a riot; Alec Mitchell with his blonde "muss" touch, Grins a lot, but doesn't say much.

Along comes another Chrystach's Pete, Who says he sure likes good things to eat.

Let's introduce you to Bill, a fine German lad, Has the "handsome" smile that ever was had.

Mr. Tennis and Corrie, too, That winds up the threshing crew. Breakfast is over, and look! look! Dishes galore piled up for his cooks.

Dinner to get, peel the spuds, Pies to bake—now don some clean duds.

For there goes the whistle, it's 12 o'clock, And time for the boys' round table talk.

Dinner is over, and time flies by, And out to the field we go on high, In the Oakland Six—with coffee and cake.

Apples and cookies—what a lot it takes! Home again and the same old song, "What shall we have for supper to-night?"

Already so soon, and supper is through, And now there's a lot more dishes to do.

Time to retire, it's nearing ten, We must catch some heavy sleep, for soon again The alarm will ring! All right, good night!

Now Vician dear, I was not born a poet, And by the above, I am sure you will know it.

35,000 ALBERTA CHILDREN COMPETE 135 SCHOOL FAIRS

C onclusion of 16 years of school fair development in Alberta found the 1932 season standing as the highest point in this long record of growth, and with rural Alberta pointing with pride to the outstanding achievements of the past few years in this line of endeavor.

The school fair has definitely won its place in the province as an almost indispensable medium of rural community development, particularly with respect to agriculture. In this connection the school fair has furnished a focal point for the work of the junior farm clubs in the immediate localities where these are organized, and the two fields of effort have been co-ordinated very effectively.

Sixteen years ago the first school fair was held in the province, with one small district centring on the town of Olds. There were this year 135 school centres in operation, each holding its fairs. Over 35,000 children exhibited in these fairs, with over 160,000 entries in the various classes. More than 1,000 schools in the province were involved extending from the international boundary to the Peace River country.

The original school fair consisted simply of the exhibiting of produce from a garden which a boy or girl had planted and cared for. The next step brought the showing of livestock fed and cared for by the pupils.

From this beginning the school fair grew until now the regulations governing the fairs in Alberta provide a total of 130 classes open for competition, covering every type of work taken at school, and including not only agriculture products, but classes in cooking, sewing, manual training, art, music and public speaking.

Some of the large district musical festivals held in the province found their origin in the school fair musical competitions. Grain and livestock junior clubs found their beginning in the school fair. It has become the one rural activity open to all boys and girls regardless of age, nationality, or creed.

Practical sponsorship of the school fair has been given by the provincial department of agriculture with the co-operation of the department of education. The former gives diplomas to the school attaining the largest awards in agricultural subjects, and the latter department issues a similar diploma in educational subjects.

The crowning reward for the youthful contestants is the school fair scholarship bestowed by the department of agriculture some years ago. This award is given to the boy and girl at each school fair receiving the largest number of points, and entitles these winners to a free course of one week at one of the schools of agriculture in the province, during the following summer season. This has proven to be a great stimulus to the school fairs, and has resulted in keen competition and consequent improvement in the quality of the work done.

Miss Kathleen Marr of Hillside is visiting for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Scott.

Mrs. Charlie Harvey, of Calgary, spent last weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Moon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Day and family moved to a farm south of town on Monday, where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Winters and Miss Alma Winters, accompanied by Mrs. Ida Just, were Sunday visitors at Calmar.

Messrs. Fred Winters, Jack Parfett, Algot Larson and his brother, and Dick Barnes, left for points west of Edmonton to try their luck at big game.

The regular meeting of the W.I. will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Cohen on Nov. 23rd. A. P. Mitchell, M.L.A., will address the meeting on State medicine.

A very successful whist drive was held at the home of Mrs. H. Brinker on Thursday evening, in aid of the St. John's Anglican Church funds. Ladies' first prize went to Mrs. Hamilton, ladies' consolation to Mrs. J. Clark; men's first prize to Mr. Briggs, and men's consolation to Mr. Beechey. Rev. and Mrs. Elliott were present, and all spent a very enjoyable evening.

Messrs. Fred and George Easterbrook and Herb Pogue, left on Sunday for Dringon, here they will be big game hunting for a couple of weeks. Miss Dorothy Mitchell accompanied them as far as her home in Biederike.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Facey motored to Edmonton on Sunday, Oct. 23, to spend the day. While there, Mr. Facey was taken suddenly ill and was under the care of a doctor, which delayed their return home until Wednesday. We are glad to be able to report that though Mr. Facey is still confined to his bed, he is convalescing very nicely after so serious an illness.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Both the afternoon and evening meetings of the Sunday school convention held on Wednesday at the Millet United Church are reported as very successful. Rev. Mr. Thompson gave the opening address on "Aim and object of Sunday schools," after which the entire assembly joined in a discussion on this subject, led by Rev. Mr. Hibbert of Calgary, Provincial Secretary for Religious Education for Alberta. In the evening, Rev. Mr. Davies of Ponoka, chairman of the Lacombe Presbytery, spoke very interestingly on the recent World's Sunday School Convention held at Rio de Janeiro, and Rev. Mr. Hibbert spoke on "Religion Here Now." Officers and teachers of the local Sunday school helped a great deal to make the convention a success. Refreshments were served between the afternoon and evening sessions by the Sunday school.

Canada's apple-growing belt is moving northward. Standard apples have been grown this year at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Beaveridge, Alberta, which is 425 miles north of the international boundary between Canada and the United States.

Canada has entered the British West Africa market for tobacco with a shipment of 25 tons of Canadian-grown tobacco, recently. About 77 per cent. of British West Africa tobacco has been secured from the United States, but Canada hopes to get the market under the new inter-empire preference.

National Fish Week between October 21-31 has been supported by the Canadian Pacific Railway since 1918 and this year was no exception. The company marked the celebration with special menu cards listing fish products of the sections of Canada through which the railway runs between Saint John, N.B., and Vancouver, British Columbia.

Canada lost one of its best-known and popular railroad officials recently when A. Altken, assistant superintendent of the Bruce Division, Canadian Pacific Railway, dropped dead in Toronto on his way to his office. Mr. Altken was 60 years of age and had spent 34 years in the company's service.

The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain was the scene of a wedding reception and breakfast at Quebec recently, following the marriage of Miss Martha St. Laurent, daughter of the president of the Canadian Bar Association, to Miss Susan, 17-year-old daughter of the president of the Canadian Bar Association. The wedding was held at the Mayfair Lounge of the Empress.

Not forgetting his work as director-general of the National Flood Relief Commission in 1931, China has asked Sir John Hope Simpson, famous British organizer, to join his newly created National Economic Council. Church and Sunday School

FIRST UNITED CHURCH
Minister—Rev. A. R. Schrag
Choirmaster—Mrs. Condie
At the First United Church last Sunday there was the largest attendance of Sunday school scholars in years. One feature of helpfulness to family worship at Church is the Beginners' Department, which meets at 11 a.m. in a lovely room in the basement during the hour of morning worship. A splendid staff takes care of the little ones, so come along with them. Regular classes of the Sunday school at noon.

The customary morning and evening hour of worship. The Pastor will preach at both services.

WOMAN KILLED AT "DEATH CORNER" NEAR EDMONTON

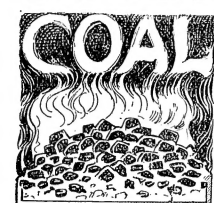

Edmonton, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Louise Poopping, 32, of Heister, Alberta, was killed shortly after 5 p.m. Friday, when her husband's car overturned at "Death Corner," four miles south of the city. The husband and two children in the machine escaped injury. "Death Corner" has been the scene of several fatal accidents and has been the subject of a tremendous agitation by motorist organizations in an effort to have it improved.

CARD OF THANKS
We desire to extend sincerest thanks to our many friends for their great kindness and expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement.
